

Yes, the Amulet microphone appears as a standard audio input device to Microsoft Windows, and does not require any special drivers. Whilst we only provide speech recognition within Windows Media Center, you can use the microphone with any application that accepts speech.